Dear Parents & Carers,

Following a rise in incidents of racism within our colleges, we are working hard to educate our young people with a range of interventions.

We know that racism and racial abuse can be really distressing for children & young people, leading to feelings of anger, isolation and sometimes even shame.

We kindly ask that you as parents and carers support your child's college by opening up conversations around what can sometimes be a tricky subject to navigate.

I have included a link to the NSPCC website 'Talking to Children About Racism', where you will find help and advice and also support in the event that your child is experiencing racist bullying.

We hope that this will be of use to you.

As always, please reach out to your child's Pastoral & Welfare Team if we can help further.

Best Wishes,
Sally Banks
